

Figure 1 A typical 17th Century Blast Furnace.

The furnace is shown cut away. The casting floor is on the left. Behind the furnace is the pool to power the belows.

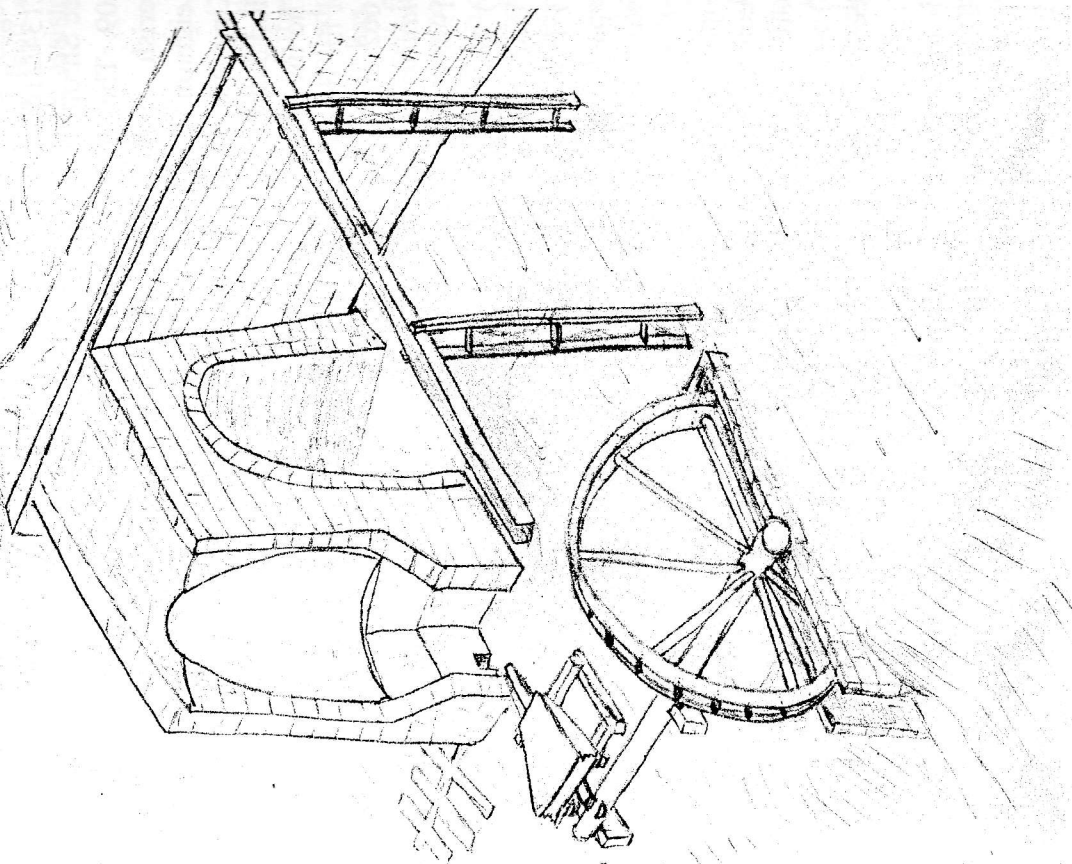

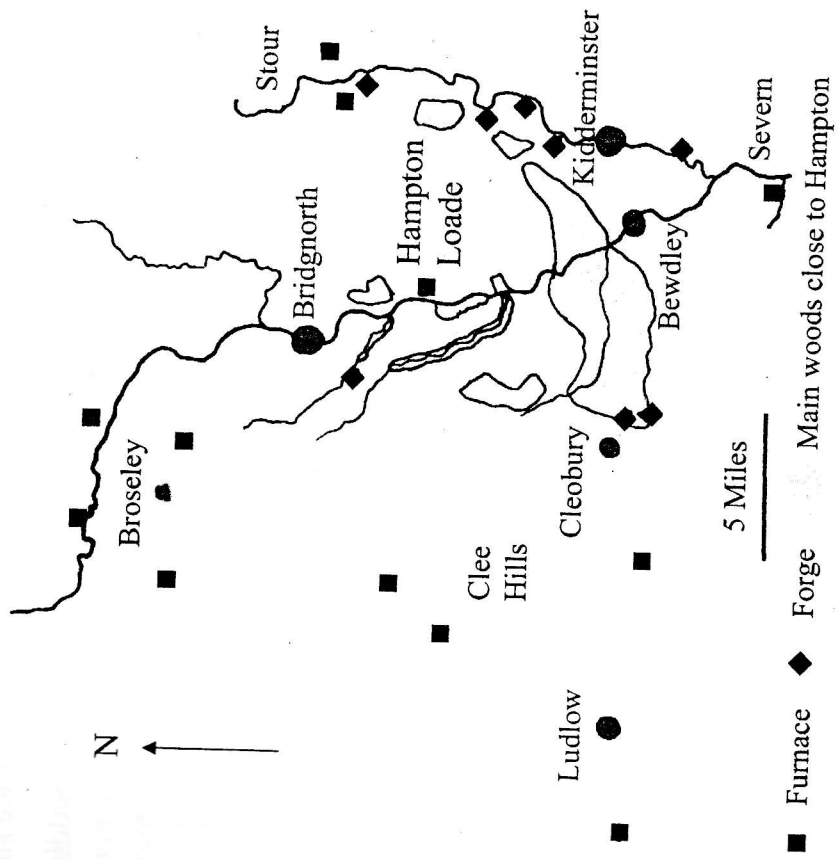

Figure 2: Ironworks in the vicinity of Hampton Loade
This figure is representative. Not all works shown operated at exactly the same period.

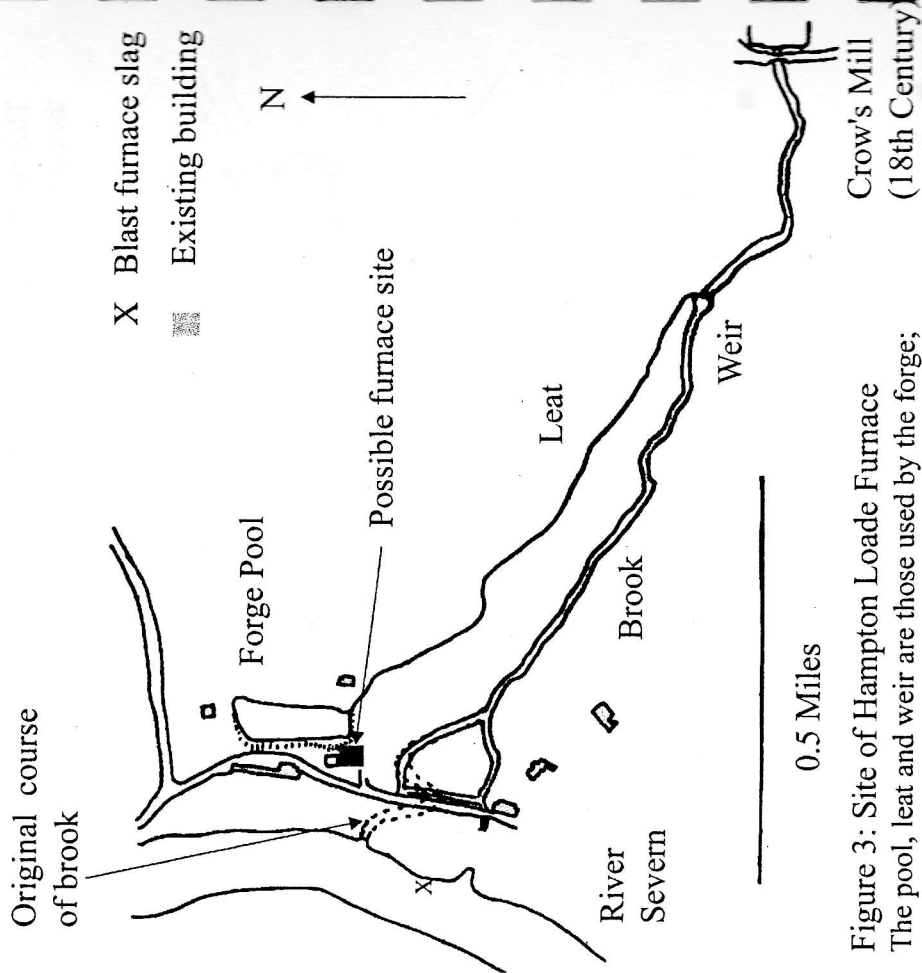

Figure 3: Site of Hampton Loade Furnace
 The pool, leat and weir are those used by the forge;
 these may be on the line of their 17th Century equivalents.