

Figure 2. A typical horseshoe kiln. If possible this would be built against a slope so that it could easily be loaded from the top whilst still allowing access to the drawhole for unloading.

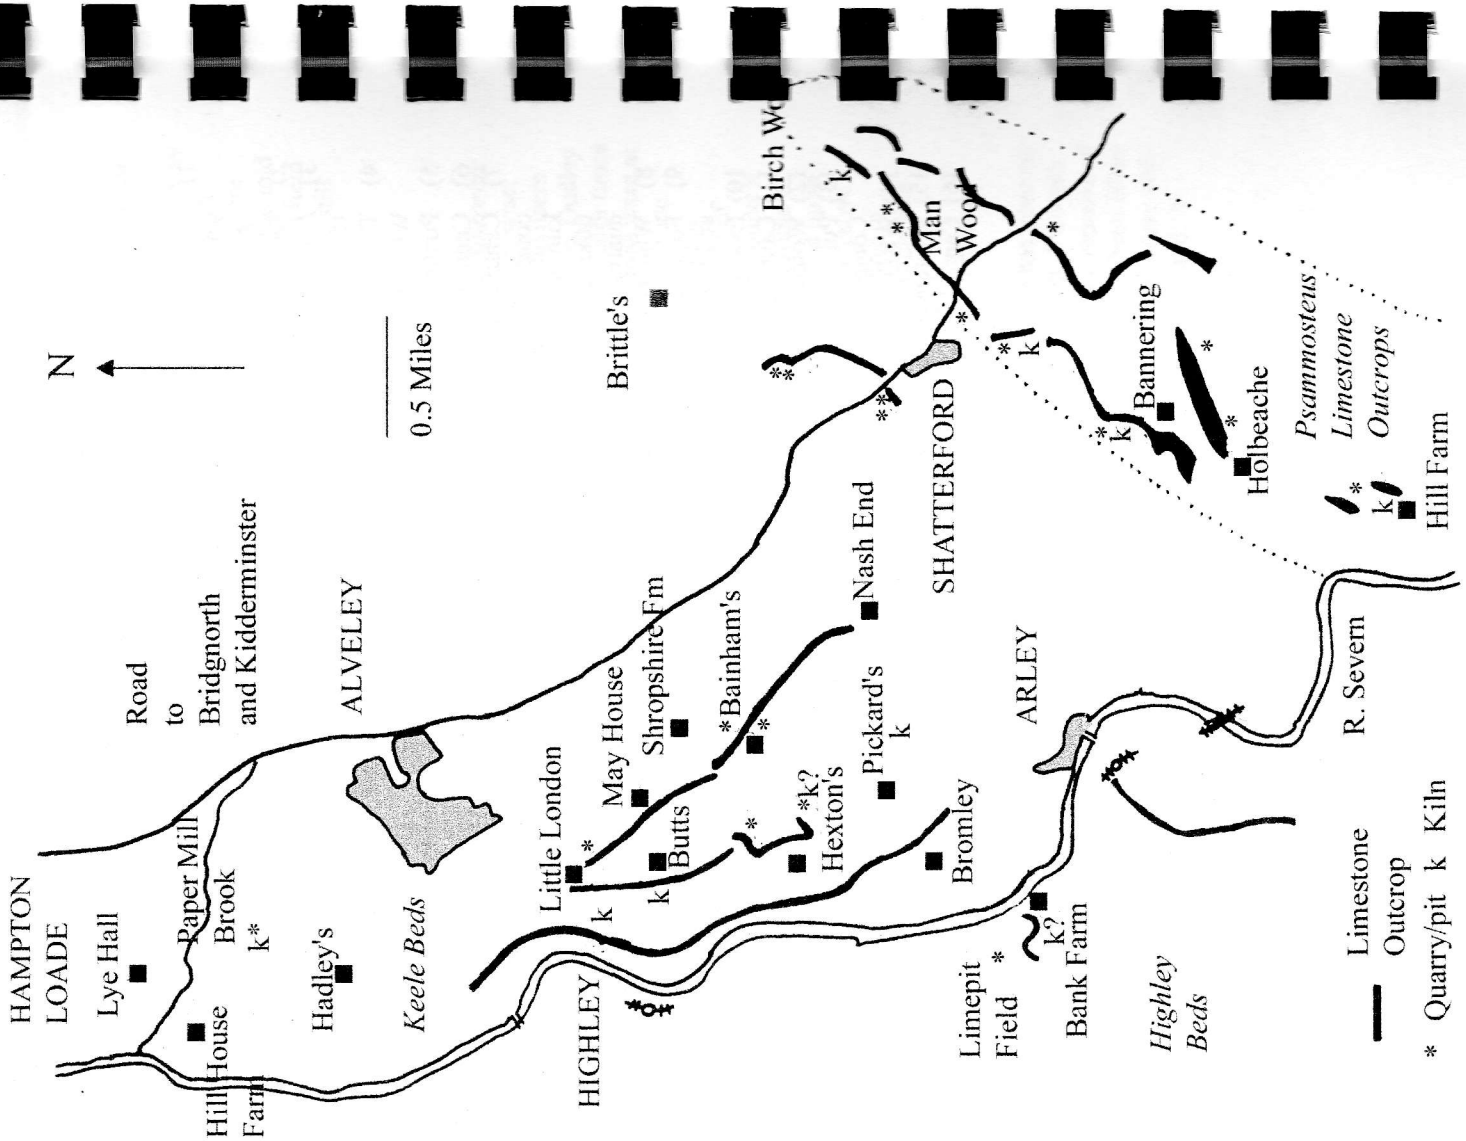

Figure 1. Limestone outcrops in Alveley and district.